24. Brief Report:

The Department of Applied Psychology, SPMC, DU organised an INTER COLLEGE ART COMPETITION as a part of chain of events for the suicide prevention and awareness week. The Theme of the event was “PAINT YOUR EMOTIONS” wherein students had to expand the horizons of their thought and emotional expression and strive to portray them on a piece of paper. The fundamental aim of the event was to promote artistic abilities among students along with acknowledging the need for emotional expression in youth. This competition brought together a diverse set of young people and provided them with a platform to showcase their talent. Entries from various colleges across the country were received and the participants provided inexplicably phenomenal captions for their artwork. The entries were judged by Dr. Virendra Pratap Yadav and Ms. Superna Gupta and a proper objective system was followed for the evaluation. After the evaluation, the results were announced through online platforms and a compilation of all the entries were showcased on the social media platforms.

On 10th September 2021, The Department of Applied Psychology, Shyama Prasad Mukherjee College conducted a Talk on “From just baat to Jazbaat” as a part of suicide prevention week. The session was presided by Ms. Ramni Kaushik, a mental health facilitator and alumni of the Applied Psychology Department, SPMC. The talk started with a welcome note by the Teacher In Charge, Dr. Anamika Rai, followed with an introduction of the speaker. This session was aimed to provide an insight to students on emotional management. It aimed to serve as an interactive platform for students and teachers of our department where they all can share their emotions and talk about them freely.

The speaker started the session by a general discussions with students. It was followed by the making of an iceberg which symbolizes our hidden emotions on the surface of the iceberg. It also helped us to identify our concealed emotions. The motive behind this entire session was to provide a non-judgemental platform to students where they can share their experiences that lead to emotional management. The event was interactive, delightful, and engaging. The teachers also shared their views and perspectives in the session. Towards the end, Ms. Ramni addressed the students, guided them with her inspirational words. Students were really happy to hear such positive thoughts presented by her. The session concluded with a formal vote of thanks. The session was fruitful for all the students and indeed was a great success.

24. Brief Report: 150-200 words

On 22nd September, 2021, the Department of Applied Psychology, Shyama Prasad Mukherji College for Women organized a Webinar on Career Opportunities in Defence Services; as a part of initiatives to guide students for various career and educational prospects post their graduation. Dr. Y. Aditi (Scientist C, Air Force Selection Board, Mysuru) was invited to conduct the webinar. It aimed to enlighten the students about the career prospects for students from the field of Psychology in Indian Defence Services.

The webinar started with a welcome note by the Teacher In Charge, Dr. Anamika Rai, followed with an introduction of the speaker. Her achievements and rich experiences in the field of DRDO research and development. She had prepared a presentation enlisting all the important information she planned to share with the students. She one by one delineated all the different career and growth prospects in Indian Defence Services for Psychology students. She briefed about DRDO and DIPR and their history, positions in these two organizations (Defence scientists, JRF and RA), and Commissioned Defence Officer posts (in all three, Army, Navy and Air Force). The session was highly informative for the students as it also gave them detailed information about eligibility criterias, application and selection procedures, and brief information about what the jobs entail and offer. The session was followed by an equally rich Q&A round where the number of questions just showed the interest and curiosity of students about the session. Dr. Aditi listened to all the questions patiently, answered them with detail and cleared all doubts precisely. For both department and the speaker, the session was a success. Dr. Aditi successfully able to stir the young minds to start thinking about their future, in defence or anywhere else. Students were grateful for the amazing session, because they always felt that career prospects in defence were narrow, but the session encouraged them to explore more. The webinar was interactive, delightful, and engaging. Towards the end, Dr. Aditi shared her words of wisdom that if a student is interested to keep their strong psychology background with them, they should go towards the field of Defence Scientists, and if they are ready to experience what the defence services has got to offer them, they should go towards the field of Commission Defence Officers. The session concluded with the formal vote of thanks. The session was fruitful for all the students and it was indeed a great success.

24. Brief Report: 150-200 words

On 15th January, 2022, the Department of Applied Psychology, Shyama Prasad Mukherjee College organized a National Webinar on "Music & Meditation" under the aegis of Azadi ka Mahotsav. Following a heartfelt welcome by Principal ma'am, Dr. Anamika Rai and Dr. Ekta Bhambri warmly welcomed the esteemed speakers and the participants. The event was moderated by Dr. Suruchi Bhatia and Dr. Suzen, and was attended by the students, research scholars, and faculty of the Delhi University. Around 90 participants joined the online session via zoom, whereas others attended it via the YouTube live streaming.

The first speaker, Upendra Arya ji began the session by encouraging all the attendees to chant OM. Various techniques like pranayama, mantra chants, hatha yoga, karma yoga were explained, stressing the importance of each on the individual's body and mind. He explained how meditation and chanting was a powerful tool to cleanse the chakras, helping the individual to attain a sattvic (balanced) state of mind. The session was extremely insightful, exemplified by how wonderfully Mr. Arya presented an effortless amalgamation of the western notions of consciousness, ego and intellect with the Indian concepts of chetna, ahamkara and chetna resp. He stressed the importance of turning inwards and calming the mind, to correct the understanding of one's own self; gaining awareness of one's thoughts before they turn into desires; and to achieving the state of Viveka (correct understanding). The session was beautifully concluded with a few breathing exercises from Patanjali's Yoga, that were demonstrated for the attendees. The second speaker Dr Rajnandini gave a beautiful introduction about awareness and dhyana (concentration) being quintessential to practice music. She sung a beautiful raga for the attendees followed by melodious bhajans. Her mesmerizing voice enchanted the attendees. The entire audience was left spellbound, with her alluring and soothing notes. The session was followed by a question and answer round with both the speakers.

Dr. Anamika Rai, the Head of Department, beautifully linked the proceedings of the event to Wundt's concept of introspection, thereby bridging the gap between music and Psychology in the true sense of the word. A formal vote of thanks was given by Dr. Virendra Yadav, who thanked the speakers and spoke of the irreplaceable importance of meditation, especially during the pandemic. The participants were asked to fill up a feedback form following which, certificates were issued.

12. Financial assistance: NO
13. Collaboration with any agency: NA
14. Name of the collaborative agency: NA
15. Objectives: The overall objective of this event is the need to focus adequately on mental health. This event aims to raise awareness of mental health issues and mobilize effects in support of mental health.

16. Methodology: All the students and teachers of the Applied Psychology Department were invited to join the event. The teachers and students were assigned breakout rooms where they shared their opinions about mental health issues and highlighted its importance. It was an interactive platform where we all had a lot of discussions about relevant issues on mental health.

17. Outcomes: The major outcome of the event was to increase awareness about mental health awareness and spread it around the world. The event also showcases greater self-acceptance and increased self-esteem about an individual. Furthermore, it also emphasizes improved management of emotions and relief from depression, anxiety and other mental disorders. Another major outcome is to feel positive about themselves and have a healthy relationship with family and friends. Last but not the least, this event instils in you the sense of achievement.

24. Brief Report: 150-200 words

Psychspire: The Society of Department of Applied Psychology, Shyama Prasad Mukherji College, University of Delhi, organised an event “Shades of Women” on the occasion of International Women’s Day. The event took place at 11:30 am, on 8th March 2022, in Central Plaza of the college. With the support of our Principal ma'am, Dr. Sadhna Sharma, and our Head of Department, Dr. Anamika Rai, this event was possible. The event was moderated by the teachers of the department and it was attended by the students and faculty members of the college. Students from the first, second and third year of the department enthusiastically participated. The Theme of the event was “Break The Bias” wherein the students of the department tried to create awareness using posters and slogans to challenge the various prevalent gender biases and stereotypical beliefs. Students moved around in circles in the central plaza to catch the attention of the audience. Students wore pink, blue, and purple attires and stood in a manner to show the amalgamation of pink and blue into purple which is the symbolic colour of international women's day, 2022. This was done to depict different shades of women, break the stereotypical belief of pink being the colour for females and highlight the equality of genders. Towards the end, all the present students were asked to write their comments on the board curated for women's day. Faculty members also signed the board and shared their views on the board. Finally, everyone was thanked for their presence and the department wished a very happy women's day to all the empowered ladies of our college.

23. Brief Report:

The Department of Applied Psychology, Shyama Prasad Mukherji College, University of Delhi had organized a workshop on “Hands-on-Training session on SPSS”, June 9, 2022 from 11 am to 2:30 pm respectively in Conference Hall Number 2. The event was patronized by our honorable Principal Ma’am, Dr. (Prof). Sadhna Sharma and was convened by Dr. Anamika Rai Head of the Department. The event was moderated by the teachers of the department and was attended by the students and faculty members. The invited guest speaker for the session was Dr. Tushar Singh, Assistant Professor, (Dept. of Psychology) from Banaras Hindu University. He was welcomed by the Principal and Head of the Dept. who greeted and acknowledged him with planters. Afterward, the session started in which the speaker adopted an interactive mode of discussion to instruct students about SPSS. The speaker gave an introduction to SPSS and informed students about its usage in handling data. He step-by-step instructed students about how to enter data in SPSS and taught various conversions of the same. Subsequently, he assisted students how to analyze data using SPSS and was apprised about possible errors committed in data handling and analysis. This session continued for approximately three hours and then a doubt session was conducted in which the speaker specifically addressed the students’ issues related to SPSS. The session was concluded with the circulation of feedback from links and a vote of thanks. Towards the end, the audience was thanked for their active participation.

TELE COUNSELLING HELPLINE

Prof. (Dr.) Sadhna Sharma
Principal

As we all know, the pandemic of the novel corona virus (COVID-19) has affected all of us. After the second wave of COVID –19, students, in particular, were significantly disrupted in their studies at higher education institutions, and got affected both physically and psychologically. As a result of pandemic, students may experience sadness, dread, anxiety, helplessness, uncertainty, lack of interest, and hopelessness. In this period of distress, I feel that students require attention and support of their teachers. This will aid them in dealing with the issues. Looking at the mental health concerns of students, with the help of faculty members we are setting up a telephonic helpline service under which the department of Applied Psychology will be providing support and address mental health issues of students. I hope that this facility would be extremely beneficial to the students. Thanks and take good care of yourself.

Dr. Anamika Rai
Assistant Professor
Dept. of Applied Psychology

We all have witnessed an alarming 'second-wave' of COVID-19. This age of crisis is causing worry among everybody because of the unusual difficulty of the global pandemic. Due to lockdown, place teaching got restricted and especially students got affected as their academics, college environment and interaction with the outside world was disrupted. No doubt, online teaching platform provided a possible path for educational activities. However, due to this technological shift in education, combined with the pandemic scenario is having a tremendous impact on students' mental health, leading to a variety of psychological issues. We must prioritise our physical and psychological well-being in these hard times. We need to figure out how to encourage students to be happy, hopeful, and resilient. The SPM college is taking all necessary steps to assist students in enhancing their educational experience. With this Counselling Helpline initiative, the college will aid and provide psychological assistance to students so that they can deal well with the situation. We are hopeful that our efforts will yield positive outcomes.

PSYTIVITY- THE BLOG OF DEPARTMENT OF APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY, SPMC, DU

The blog is the output of a random class conversation which took place one day during the class. It was the beginning of summer somewhere around February. A discussion was going on with Dr. Anamika Rai about the issues and problems surrounding mental health and the need to create awareness among the masses.

Discussion was about how people are unaware of the facts related to mental health. Everyone was putting their own perspectives and their experiences. Out of the blue, the professor came up with the idea of initiating a Departmental Blog. This is how the blog was officially established on 8 March 2020 with Aasis Kaur Sethi and Manvi Mehrotra as its founding members. Since then, the blog has touched upon a lot of topics including; resilience, autism, LGBTQIAPHK+ and not just issues related to psychology but also social issues. A psychological perspective is given to the blog post on every topic. It tries to explore the areas of how a person's behaviour can affect their health, self-esteem and every aspect of an individual's life.

The main motive of this initiative was to create awareness among the masses, and deal with social issues and problems which people are not aware of. The blog face is kept subtle and the readers are not bombarded with information. It is kept interactive and simple so that even a layman can understand it. The posts are started from a basic level by an explanation of terminology and then ascend with the topic ending it on a note of solution.

The people are made aware through the blog but even the members are made to research about new topics and information so they are able to enlighten themselves with new knowledge which they might have ignored otherwise. As of now, the outreach of the blog has increased by using various social media platforms. It makes sure that people are able to access the material and come across the posts.

People outside the psychology background are also included to make it more inclusive. For example; the happiness day IGTV video where younger and elder siblings, parents and grandparents were also included.

We seek to alter the root cause of the issues. We want people to gradually work on their problems and learn how to build solutions of their own.

There is a full-fledged team which works upon every post and tries to bring out the best in order to disseminate information about mental health.
